A guide to making your own Bath Bombs

1. Firstly, prepare and clean your working area. Including sourcing all equipment needed. For this recipe we would recommend a couple of mixing bowls, gloves and a water sprayer.
2. Next, in one bowl add your bicarbonate of soda and citric acid and mix well using your hands.
3. Then split you mix into two separate bowls, put one to one side.
4. In the other one, add in your fragrance oil and mix well. Ensure you break away any lumps that may have formed.
5. Once you are happy sprinkle in your colour, the amount you use is down to personal preference and how vibrant you want your bath bombs to look. Mix until completely blended.
6. For this recipe idea we added our botanicals into the bath bomb mix, by sprinkling them in and mixing until dispersed throughout. You can add them to the top of your bath bomb during the mould stage.
7. Now you need to create the correct consistency for your bath bomb to hold together. From a distance gently spray your bath bomb mix with water. Then give it a good stir. You want to create a snowball like feel when you squeeze your mix in your hand.
8. Once you are happy with the consistency of your mix, scoop into your mould, one side more heaped than the other. Line up your two halves & press together. Then leave to one side to dry.
9. Repeat until all of your mixture is used up. Then repeat steps 4-9 with your second bowl of bath bomb mixture.
10. Once dry, you can enjoy your handmade bath bombs!
